VOL. 24 NOS. 3–4 JULY 1989

The effect of method of preservation of forages on their resistance to reduction in particle size with an artificial masticator
M.N. McLeod and J.R. Wilson (St. Lucia, Qld., Australia) 185
Response of high-producing dairy cows to high levels of dried corn gluten feed
O.A. Ohajuruka and D.L. Palmquist (Wooster, OH, U.S.A.) 191
Influence of stage of forage maturity and ammoniation of wheat straw on ruminal degradation of wheat forage tissues
G.W. Horn (Stillwater, OK, U.S.A.), J. Zorrilla-Rios and D.E. Akin (Athens, GA, U.S.A.) 201
Body composition and growth of young pigs as affected by protein source and a growth promoter
C.A. Morgan, C.T. Whittemore and A.G. Taylor (Edinburgh, Gt. Britain) 219
Effect of enzyme supplementation on the nutritive value of hulless barley in chicken diets
B.A. Rotter, M. Neskar, W. Guenter and R.R. Marquardt (Winnipeg, Man., Canada) 233
Effects of oven-dried cassava peel meal on the performance and carcass characteristics of broiler chickens
S.A. Osei and I.K. Twumasi (Kumasi, Ghana) 247
Factors affecting the digestibility by pigs of energy and protein in wheat, barley and sorghum diets supplemented with canola meal
J.M. Bell and M.O. Keith (Saskatoon, Sask., Canada) 253
Evaluation of pea protein concentrate as a source of protein in milk replacers for Holstein calves
P.K. Mbugi, J.R. Ingalls and H.R. Sharma (Winnipeg, Man., Canada) 267
Effect of graded levels of raw and processed rapeseed on feed digestibility and nutrient utilization in young pigs
A. Aumaitre, D. Bourdon, J. Peiniau and J. Bengala Freire (L'Hermitage, France) 275
The effects of starch- and pectin-rich diets on quantitative aspects of digestion in sheep
D. Ben-Ghedalia, E. Yosef, J. Miron and Y. Est (Bet Dagan, Israel) 289
Oven and stack ammoniation of grass hays. 1. Changes in chemical composition in relation to digestibility in vitro and cell-wall degradability
V.C. Mason, A.S. Keene, J.E. Cook, E.M. Cooper and R.D. Hartley (Maidenhead, Gt. Britain) 299
Oven and stack ammoniation of grass hays. 2. Voluntary intake, digestibility and faecal nitrogen excretion in sheep in relation to hay composition
V.C. Mason, J.E. Cook, E.M. Cooper, C.J. Hoadley and J.E. Cockburn (Maidenhead, Gt. Britain) 313
Observations on the feeding of non-lactating sows on graded levels of liquid whey
N. Walker (Hillsborough, N. Ireland) 327
Effect of blood meal processing method on performance and nitrogen utilization by growing cattle
R.W. Harvey and J.W. Spears (Raleigh, NC, U.S.A.) 337

Short Communications

Use of microbial phytase in improving the feed quality of soya bean meal
Y.W. Han (New Orleans, LA, U.S.A.) 345
Coating markers to improve their use for feed evaluation in ruminants
I. Bruckental, Z. Harduf, B. Yosif and E. Alumot (Bet Dagan, Israel) 351
